Ar ten minutes past 7 o'clock last evening those living in the cantral portion of the city and the large crowds on the sidewalks were alarmed by the rappid tolling of the First Fresbyterian Church bell. Everyone said fire, and when a man came tearing down the alley by the Church, and breathlessly told Officer Bird to turn in an alarm, that there was a fire, that 'officer very properly made his best time to the nearest box, which was No. 23, at the City Building, and pulled it. The Hope hose was at the box before the Capitol bell was through striking and was told to go to the Church. It did so, and found that a new sexton had been at the bell and that he did not understand how to rightly manipulate the rope. Result: Big crowd, big excitement, fast department, mad firemen and no one to blame.

Ar a recent meeting of the State Fair Board of Directors Judge Cranmer was elected General Superintendent for the Centennial celebration of the settlemeat of Fort Honry, the corner show of the present city of Wheeling, which will be held September 17th, which is during Fair week. It is the intention to make that day a gala one for Wheeling and vicinity. The proposed "May meet" is at present somewhat under a cloud. A meeting of the circuit directors was recently held at Columbus, and as no one represented Wheeling, wheeling was left out and the dates she had selected. May 3th and 27th inclusive, taken by Columbus. Secretary Tingle will go to Pittsburgh Monday to try and arrange for dates and horses. As entertainment was last evening given in Tremont Temple by the Royal Hand Bell Ringers of London, it being their first appearance in this country. The company is composed of Mesers Doncan S. Miller, conductor, H. Havert, W. J. Havert, J. H. Williams, and A. G. Pritchard. The bells are seventy-three in number, all rich and sweel in tone, and ranging in weight from three and one-half ounces to eleven pounds. The company was introduced by Mr. John B. Gough, who was influential in inducing them to visit this country. The earlier part of the programme included several Jrish melodies, "The Last Rose of Summer" being finely played. They also gave several Scotish airs, the "Turkish Patrol," selections from the "Uhimes of Normandy." and an imitation of church chimes. These were all shely given, the sweet tones of the bells being particularly pleasing, while music of a higher order was rendered in a wy that placed them at the head of all bell ringers. The bell ringing by the company is certainly wonderful.—Boston Transcript.

This business being disposed of the Justice adjourned his court to jail, and Mont Drummond was run out of his dungeon cell to answer the charge of adultery with Mary Tucker parferred by Kate Lashnw, his sister. This case was tried before a Jury, composed of W. H. Haller, Wm. Rose, Wm. Scroggins, Sam. Norton, Frank Falloure and A. M. Philips. All of the parties to the suit are members of the Drummond family, of North Wheeling, whose reputation is bad in that neighborhood. Mont was cleared by the jury. This was singular, as Mary Tucker, charged with the same offense with Mont, had a few days before confessed to being guilty, and had paid her fine; yet yesterday she denied having anything to do with Mont.

Miss Adelia Pollack. LAILA-OPERETTA IN THREE PARTS.

The vocal solo by Miss Pollack was highly raised by all who heard it, and the piano extettes and quartette spoke highly of the fliciency of the Misses Doddridge as teachers I instrumental music. The operetta was a cautiful little thing, well rendered. Two legant Kranich & Bach baby grand pianos om Wilson & Baumer's were used in the companiments, and attracted attention by leir sweetness of tone and other good quali-ess.
